

The Regulatory Affairs Management In Smart-Working: From The Lockdown Experience To Possible Future Scenarios

parexel

Nadia Esani and Joseph Brennan

By

Sep 24, 2020 7:00 am EDT

WHERE WERE WE? Many regulatory affairs professionals were used to working from company offices, traveling for business purposes, and having regular and personal interactions within and outside the company. Indeed, a fair proportion of us would have the opportunity to work from home (WFH), either part or even full time. But even then, travel to meetings would have been part of the package. Whilst this was the norm, few will have given thought to the benefits an office environment offers. Much more likely, many would have been less than

Source URL: <http://www.ivtnetwork.com/article/regulatory-affairs-management-smart-working-lockdown-experience-possible-future-scenarios-0>